DBF Employees Continue to Deliver Holiday Cheer

For a fourth consecutive year, the employees of Davis, Bowen & Friedel, Inc. (DBF), provided an unforgettable holiday for two special residents of Somerset County, Maryland.

With the assistance of the Somerset County Commission on Aging (SCCA), representatives from DBF were provided with information on two residents who were in need of holiday cheer. Lists were supplied by SCCA for each recipient to ensure they received needed items, and the donated goods from DBF employees were then wrapped and readied for delivery. Among the many packages were clothing, blankets, toiletries, shoes, puzzles, and more. DBF staff also gifted the ladies with homemade baked goods and dry goods for their pantries.

On December 17, DBF's Sue Marine and Charissa Thomas met with SCCA representative Kirk Sterling to hand-deliver the gifts to Ms. Alice, 67, and Ms. Margaret, 97. Both ladies were greatly moved and surprised by the arrival of so many packages. "I was amazed - I loved it," Sterling stated. "You could tell that there was a lot of passion behind the giving. The ladies and their families were so appreciative. I felt privileged to be invited to join in the project."

"Knowing we have brought smiles and happiness to two total strangers gives us so much joy," shared Thomas, DBF's Marketing Director. "This experience always reminds us that to give is better than to receive. Each year it just continues to get better and better."
